

- What was most surprising to you?

Many aspects of the survey were surprising to me. However, the most surprising aspect was that more than half of the people who answered would prefer a life with labour over a life automated by technology. This surprised me because I expected people to prefer the technology life.

- What question provided the most consistent response

Everybody agreed that technology would replace all jobs

- Why do you think that was?

We all know how advanced technology and artificial intelligence have been getting recently.

- What did you learn about the topic?

I learned that students believe that their future jobs would be less With the help of technology.

- Now that you have this feedback, what do you think would be a good way to further educate the public on this topic?

I think that a good way to educate the public on this topic further would be posting online articles, or short videos on social media platforms educating people about this topic
